

NJ Schools to Remain on Home Instruction Through End of School Year

Dear High Point Families & Staff,

On Monday, May 4, 2020, Governor Murphy announced that all New Jersey schools will not reopen for in-person instruction this school year and that students will continue on remote learning plans until the end of the 2019–2020 school year. (You can watch the press announcement here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AnLz2NGUpkl>.)

We are, of course, heartbroken for our students who will not have the traditional end to their school year, but we understand the need to base our actions on safety and science.

Today's official notification will help us advance our brainstorming and planning for our end-of-year procedures and events, such as moving-ups and graduations. Our staff is working on plans to recognize these achievements in ways they deserve. We will have more information on those ideas and on our summer and other plans in the coming weeks.

Meanwhile, we are confident that our staff and students will continue their lessons and learning with the same commitment to excellence that we have witnessed over the past weeks. We are extremely proud of the instruction our students are receiving and of the dedication of all of our staff who work hard every day to support them.

As always, please remember to communicate with your child's teacher about any concerns as we strive to be flexible and responsive to the varied needs of our families.

Our best wishes,
The High Point Team
