FALL 2020

Fall Had No End to Fun!

There's no doubt about it: These have been trying times, not just for our school and for our beloved community that surrounds it, not just for all schools across America, but for the whole world over. And that's precisely why we wanted our students to enjoy this semester as much as they could and to make the most of our time when we were together on campus. Halloween? Yep! (Check out Ms. Maltz's crazy alien costume.) Autumn arts and crafts? You betcha! We added color and fun wherever we could to stay connected and concentrated on bringing normalcy and consistency to our routines until we round the coronavirus corner — together, stronger than ever.

HPS Is Anti-Bullying

Every year, High Point enthusiastically takes part in Anti-Bullying Week activities in November because bullying is an ongoing issue among school students nationwide, and we won't rest in our efforts to combat it until this issue is put to rest. This year, aided by Ms. Toran and Mr. E., our students created an Instagram photo booth, which sparked conversation about bullying on social media platforms. They captured their support for the campaign wearing hand-decorated T-shirts that remind everyone to

BE KIND and to display PEACE AND KINDNESS. We talked about what bullying is, what to do about it, where to get help for it, and how to help others with it as we "United Against Bullying."

Collective Action for a Cure

In October, High Point School walked to show support for Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The students were all involved in making a beautiful gallery featuring words of care and love for all those affected by this pervasive disease. As we walked around town on a crisp fall afternoon (making sure to wear our masks and maintain social distancing), we proudly wore pink and vowed to "Tackle Cancer."
